The Lamborghini Super Trofeo North America series is traveling southeast to Virginia International Raceway to kick-off the second half of the season with Rounds 7 and 8 this weekend on the scenic and fan-friendly 17-turn, 3.27-mile road course in Alton, Virginia.

A perennial favorite with drivers, teams and fans, VIR is the only track to host the series in all five of its North American seasons. Recently updated in 2000, the circuit is one of the most beautiful road courses in North America and well-suited to the Huracán Super Trofeo car.

The series competitors will enjoy two 50-minute races at VIR. Race 1 is scheduled to start at 4:40 p.m. (ET) Saturday, Aug. 26. Race 2 will start at 9:50 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 27. Two practices will take place Friday, followed by a double qualifying session Saturday morning at 10:05 a.m.

Following rounds 5 and 6 at Road America, the championship battles are intensifying, with drivers and teams becoming even more competitive with half of the 12-round season already complete.

Coming off three wins in row, the No. 1 Prestige Performance Huracán representing Lamborghini Paramus has firmly taken control of the Pro Championship following their dominating performance at Road America.

The duo of Trent Hindman and Riccardo Agostini have jumped into the points lead, but are closely followed by the No. 16 Change Racing entry of Richard Antinucci, only 6 points behind, representing Lamborghini Carolinas. Antinucci suffered an issue in Race 1 at Road America, putting him five laps down and giving up the win and the points advantage to Hindman and Agostini.

Also, deep in the points hunt for the Pro category is Ashley Freiberg in the No. 30 entry for DAC Motorsports representing Lamborghini Palm Beach.

Freiberg made history earlier this season at Watkins Glen International, becoming the first woman to stand on the overall podium of any of Lamborghini's worldwide Super Trofeo series.

She has been in contention and on the podium all season and is only 19 points behind the championship leaders Hindman and Agostini.
